FIVE SPECIAL TRAINS FOR THE W.&J. GAME

And Four of Them Will Run Through This City.

MORGANTOWN, Nov. 18.—According to definite word of which was received here today, there will be no less than five special trains operated into Morgantown on Thanksgiving day to accommodate the thousands of fans who will come here to witness a gridiron conflict that ranks with the biggest and most important to be played in America on that date.

The special trains will all operate over the B. & O. and are as follows: One from Washington, Pa., carrying the W. & J. student body and fans, and picking up fans at Wheeling, Moundsville, Cameron, Hundred and Fairmont; one from Clarksburg, which will leave that city after arrival of special street cars from Weston and will stop at Shinnston, Monongah and Fairmont; one from Elkins which will stop at Junior, Belington, Tygart Junction, Philippi, Grafton and Fairmont; one from Scottsdale, Pa., which will stop at Connelville and Uniontown, and the last from Fairmont only.

All these trains will make round trip runs on the day of the game, and most of the five trains will arrive here shortly after noon. The definite schedules will be announced later.

The majority of fans who will use these trains have already been supplied with tickets either through mail orders or special sales in various cities through which the trains run and there are less than one thousand seats left to supply all of the hundreds of "last-minute" fans and it seems certain that there will be more than a thousand would-be spectators who will be disappointed at securing admission. The management gave out the warning today that no one should come here unless supplied in advance with tickets for admission to the field. It is yet ten days till time for the game and with less than one thousand seats left and over five thousand sold, and, too, with the field entirely surrounded by seats with no standing room available, it is a physical impossibility for anyone to be accommodated unless they have a reserved seat. Absolutely no standing room will be sold.

The present plans for seating the throng call for seven thousand, five hundred and fifty-two seats, which is almost double the usual seating capacity of the university field and is three thousand more seats than are available at any other West Virginia field, yet it is inadequate and serves as a harbinger of the interest in the Mountain state classic.

No advertising whatever has been done for the game except that which is in the interest of the public, i. e., about train arrangements, the time for ticket sales, etc. No "Barnum and Bailey" methods have been needed to stir up by far the biggest crowd that has ever witnessed a football game in this state, and the question has not been to get buyers for seats, but to get seats for buyers.

SPORT JAZZ

It is hard to tell whether the world grows better or worse. The years bring many changes, but the changes are a good deal like feminine fashions—the big idea is the same.

In 1869 the Cincinnati Reds played ball with a lot of shrubbery on the field; to be more exact, on their chins.

A century ago they played football in England with their feet.

Many centuries ago Roman maidens did the jazz with less clothes than the shimmy artists wear today.

A classic dance (the Roman jazz), according to announcements can express various things. It seems a girl with a cheesecloth draped carelessly about her form, can give expression to most anything. She's a "bare" at that.

But the expression of a certain thought—a battle scene, a society hunt, a bit of beauty, a love scene, or what have you?—through the instrument of the ancient terpsichore leaves much to the imagination.

Like the present brew we do not drink—not very near. Not drink, not very near—that makes beer problem a (k) notty one.

THE UPPER REGISTER.

I'm making money selling milk, said the bald-headed man.

Who do you sell 'em to?

A professor of music on the next block.

What in the world does he want mice for?

Why, he uses them for trying the voices of the young ladies.—Yonkers Statesman.

MONONGAH

Three Good Talks.

Mrs. Edith Blair, county home and demonstration agent and W. E. McComas, county agricultural agent, each gave a talk at the public school last night. Miss Blair gave an interesting talk on kinds of food and how they should be prepared. Mr. McComas also gave a talk on agriculture and the necessity of an education for any kind of occupation of life. Dr. Yost's talk was very interesting. His talk was on how to keep in health and the modern up to date school building of West Virginia. He demonstrated his talk by a moving picture machine which was a very clear way for the mothers and children to understand. Each speaker was introduced by Prof. Hall.

Mrs. C. M. Windsor, E. B. Tucker and Mrs. Dr. Akers were calling at the Windsor pharmacy.

Fred Costello motored from Point Marion and was calling on friends here.

Mrs. Zone Cornell was a shopper in Fairmont yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Griffith, of Shinnston, were visiting friends and relatives in town Sunday.

Harold Peppers and sister, Doris, of Salem, were here visiting their grandmother, Mrs. William Holbert, Sunday.

weeks, is now able to be out.
